Global Health and Human Rights

Chris Beyrer, MD, MPH, founded and directs the Johns Hopkins Center for Public Health and Human Rights. The Center for Public Health and Human Rights (CPHHR) at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health seeks to advance fundamental human rights through research, teaching and advocacy.

Dr. Beyrer is the inaugural Desmond M. Tutu Professor in Public Health and Human Rights at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health in Baltimore. He has done research in health and human rights concerns in Thailand, Burma, China, India, South Africa, Malawi, Tanzania, Russia, Tajikistan, and Kazakhstan. He is a Professor of Epidemiology, International Health, and Health, Behavior and Society at Johns Hopkins. Dr. Beyrer has extensive experience in conducting international collaborative research and training programs in infectious disease epidemiology, in health and migration, and in health and human rights.
